The Cotion Crop and its Movements. The receipts since the first of September at sea ports have already reached about 3,300,000 baies, and it is barely possible that in the neighborhood of about 200,000 more will be received before the close of the season. Assuming the total to amount to the aggregate of 3,500,000 bales, the distribution may safely be estimated as follows:-The United States last year required 600,000 bales, and the present year will require 700,000 bales, while it is estimated

Out of this crop of 3,500,000 bales, about 200,000 bales are estimated to have been the growth of the previous season and kept back by the low stages of water in the Southern rivers. The continued navigable condition of the Southern streams through the past winter, and, indeed, up to the pre sent time—having recently been so high as to cause damage by their overflow—has enabled the growers to send all their supplies to market, they being also urged to do so by the stimulus of high prices. The result will be, that the country will be cleared of cotton this season and the consumption of the world in 1857 can only be supplied by the actual growth of 1856. And when we consider that the spring has been fate and the season much more backward than usual, while there has not been, and cannot be, any important increase in the amount of labor devoted to its culture, there is no reasonable hope that the present crop, now in its infancy, can surpass, if it can un der the most favorable circumstances, equal the crop of the past year.

At the close of 1855, or on the 1st September o that year, the stocks left at all the ports of the United States amounted to 143,336 bales, and of course some stock will be left on the 1st September next, which will not likely exceed, if, indeed, it comes up to it.

And yet, notwithstanding the large supply o the present crop, owing to the increase of consumption the stock of American cotton in Great Britain at the close of the present year, or on the 1st January, 1857, will very little, if at all, exceed the stock held there on the 1st of January, 1856, admitting that between the 15th of June and the 15th of July next the stock in Liverpool may reach 600,000 bales.

Should peace continue to prevail over the world the consumption must become greatly augmented It is believed by many that consumption has already overtaken the labor of production. We possess in the United States an immense body of wild lands at the Southwest, adapted to the growth of cotton, but which cannot be brought into tillage from the want of labor. Could labor be had, the United States could now produce four to four and a half millions of bales of cotton just as readily as the present supply. It is now doubted by many whether labor efficient exists in the planting States to pick out three and a half million bales of cotton. Those who suppose white labor can be employed in its cultivation have an opening for the experiment in the unopened rich lands of the Southwestern States.

It is estimated that the inhabitants of England and the United States consume, on an average, from five to six pounds of cotton per head per annum, and that in France and Germany the average is about 4 a 41 pounds per head. In Turkey, and in other countries occupying a somewhat similar standard of civilization, the average ranges from 2 a 21 pounds per head. The great in crease in the future consumption of cotton will be in the Russian possessions, and in other countries in which civilization among the masses has made but little progress, and in the increased ability of the people to consume it in the more advanced s of the world. As civilization extends the amount consumed must increase.

The discovery of the rich gold fields of California and Australia, by diffusing wealth and increasing commerce, must add to the consumption of cottor The yield of gold since this discovery has amounted in round numbers to about $500,000,000. The yield last year was about $100,000,000. At the same ratio, the total in ten years will reach $1,000,000.000. This must tend to increase the consumption of cotton and to augment the price of labor.

The culture of cotton in India, in competition ith the United States, has proved a failure, and the receipts of India cotton in England the present season have fallen off about 100,000 bales. We pos sess the cotton markets of Europe, and should be able to maintain them. We possess the best cotton lands on the globe, and have no rivalry to fear.

Last year our crop of the growth of 1854 only reached about 2,800,000 bales, the exports of which were about 2,200,000 bales, and amounted to only $88,000,000, leaving about 600,000 bales for home use. This year the growth of 1855 gives us a crop of about 3,500,000 bales, from which, it we subtrac 700,000 bales for home use, we will have left 2,800, 800 bales for export, which, at the present average value of $45 per bale, will amount to the large sum of $126,000,000, to which, if we add the value of 700,000 bales retained for domestic use, at the same average per bale, or $31,500,000, we have a grand total of the crop grown in 1855, and sent to market in 1856, of $161,500,000. If we subtract from this 300,000 bales supposed to have been of the growth of 1854, or $13,500,000, it leaves us $148,000,000about equal to three years' yield of the California gold mines, and requiring at least 2,000 ships in its transportation, and in bringing home return cargoes on its sales abroad.

To the exports of $126,000,000, if we add the e timated exports of tobacco, rice and naval stores to be what they were last year, we shall have the following exports of slave labor for the present year:-Exports of cotton. $126,000,000
Tobacco 14,717,468
Rice 1,717,508
Naval stores 2,049,666

Total.....$144,480,077 The total exports to sixty-eight different countries, ending the 30th of June, 1855, including specie, amounted to $246,708,553. For the year ending the 30th of June, 1855, th total exports of the above four articles of slave labor amounted to only $106,480,077. On the 30th of June, this year, they will not fall short of $144, 480,077-giving a grand increase in value of $38. 000,000, exclusive of the $13,500,000 of the value of 300,000 bales grown in 1854.

The above results of Southern labor for a single year, show the value to the Union of that section of country. In these results, the free States of the North, it is believed, participate to the full extent of twenty per cent, or to the amount of $28,896,004. which, in ten years, would amount to $280,896,904 If to the $144,480,077 slave products for 1856 we add the exports of breads timber, staves, &c., from the same part of the Union and add the $31,000,000 worth of cotton consumed in the United States, with the large supply of sugar from the same region, which in 1850 amounted to $12,878,850, we shall have a grand total of slave products for a single year of not less, probably than $250,000,000. By the census returns of 1850 it apr ... s there were in the Southern States 74.031 ce son plantations, 2,681 sugar plantations, 551 ree estates, 15,745 tobacco estates, and 8,327 hemp planters. There were 5,000,000 of acres of land de voted to the cultivation of cotton. The Secretury of the Treasury-the late Hon. Levi Woodbury-estimated the whole amount of capital invested in the cultivation of cotton, including lands, laborers, tools, &c., at about $800,000. 000, to produce a crop of 400,000,000 lbs. The crop of the growth of 1855, at 400 lbs. to the bale, gives the astonishing quantity of 1,400,-600,000 lbs. If the capital invested has increased sent time the South has not invested less, probably. than $2,000,000,000 capital in the cultivation o cotton.

In 1800, or fifty-six years since, the yield of cotton only amounted to about 40,000 bales, worth between two and three millions of dollars. We now produce 3,200,000 bales, worth $148,900,000. In 1789, the whole value of cotton produced in the United States was only $48,285. In the whole history of agriculture, throughout the world, this extraordinary increase is without a parallel. The productions of slave labor have advanced the United States a century ahead of what they would have been without it. It has built up cities and towns in America and Europe, where there were none, and imparted energy to commerce, trade and civilization over the world. Above all, the cotton bales. as a commercial necessity, have acted as bonds o peace between the United States and England for the past forty-one years. Is it this state of things abolitionism proposes to destroy—to ruin the interest and prosperity of the whites, without, in the end, being of the least benefit to the negro? Suppose that they were to push their mad schemes to a dissolution of the Union, England would, as a means of self-preservation, be forced to sustain the South and enable her to supply the cotton she wants, or otherwise she might as well level her siege guns at Manchester and other manufacturing towns, and reduce them to the ground, and let her operatives perish beneath the ruins; and also burn half her commercial marine and pitch their sailors into the sea. The English will soon require an annual sup-ply of two miliions of bales of cotton, and must have it. Her operatives must have bread and clothing. Her ships must find employment, to supply which she must have our cotton.

Theatrical, Musical, &c.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.-This is the last night but one of the opera season, which closes this week, and with it the final opportunity we shall have of hearwith it the final opportunity we shall have of hear-ing Madame La Grange in opera, prior to her depar-ture for Europe. "La Sonnambula" is the selection for this evening, with La Grange in the chief rôle, supported by Signori Brignoli, Badiali, &c. Should the weather prove propitious there will be a brilliant gathering of the dilettanti; and, even under any cir-cumstances, a good house may be expected.

BROADWAY THEATRE.-Mr. and Mrs. Rarney Williams most successfully continue to keep up th winams most successfully continue to keep up the attractiveness of their entertainments, notwithstanding the great length of time they have been playing at this house. The seats are always well filled, and, what must be equally gratifying, the dress circle is invariably graced by unusually large numbers of ladies. This evening Mr. and Mrs. W. perform in three of their highly popular pieces—"Ireland and America," "In and Out of Place," and the "Limerick Boy."

K NIBLO'S GARDEN .- Those wonderful pantomimists, the Ravels, Mile. Robert, the graceful danseuse, the the Ravels, Mile. Robert, the graceful danseuse, the ballet corps, and young Hengler, the renowned tight rope performer, will again combine their energies for the purpose of gratifying, astonishing and be-wildering their spectators this evening. Mr. Hengler is to go through his unrivalled tambourine feat, playing on that instrument while dancing and somersetting on the cord; the pretty ballet styled "Les Abeilles" follows, and the entertainments conclude with the famous spectacle of "Mazulm."

FOWERS THATER Manager Weldern appears

FOWERY THEATRE. Manager Waldron appears to have effected a number of highly judicious operations recently—among them, and of paramount importance, the selection of a good stock company; another, the production in admirable style of the legendary musical spectacle called the "Devil's Elixir;" a third, and equally popular move, was the engagement of the favorite young actor, Mr. E. Eddy, whose appearance on the stage is always hailed with the liveliest enthussism by crowded audiences. This evening he plays Charles de Moor in the "Robbers." The "Devil's Elixir" is the final piece.

BURTON'S THEATRE. -Mr. Bourcicault's new piece "The Life of an Actress," of which we gave an ex tended notice yesterday morning, is to be repeated for the fourth time this evening. This play is replete with thrilling interest and fine dramatic situations—enchaining the heart while it attracts the eye—and as it becomes more generally known will doubtless draw large audiences. Mr. Bourcicault portrays the leading male part, Grimaidi, a veteran actor, and Miss Agnes Robertson that of Violet, the heroine. They are supported by most of the company, except Mr. Burton.

WALLACK'S THEATRE .- Mr. Brougham's famou local, quizzical, comical extravaganza, styled "Po local, quizzical, comical extravaganza, styled "Po ca-hon-tas, or Ye Gentle Savage," which had such an immense run early in the season, is to be revived to-night, with Mr. Walcot as Captain John Smith; Mr. Brougham as Pow-ha-tan; Miss Gannon as Po-ca-hon-tas, and Mrs. Stephens as Poo-te-pet. Those who have not seen this affair should go, by all means, if they desire to enjoy a rare bit of novel drollery. Those who have witnessed the representation require no urging to see it again. "An Awkward Arrival" is the opening piece.

LAURA KEENE'S VARIETIES .- Mr. Brougham's LAURA KEENE'S VARIETIES.—Mr. Brougham's dramatic version of the very popular novel entitled "Jane Eyre, the Orphan of Lowood," is to be performed for the third time this evening. The warm plaudits bestowed upon this play by full and fashionable audiences during its previous representations have established its success, and indicate that it will have a long and profitable run. Miss Keene and Mr. Jordan have characters admirably adapted for the display of their histronic abilities. The comedy of "My Wife's Mirror" closes the entertainments.

BROADWAY VARIETIES.—Little George, as he is familiarly called, appears to have made a decided hit in his new character of Timothy Toodle, in the very comical piece known as "The Toodles." Many of the andience were fairly frantic with delight when he first essayed the part on Monday evening, and for a while the applause was so overwhelming that the young artist and his talented little associates were scarcely able to proceed with their business on the stage. They repeat the farce of "Perfection" and "The Toodles" this evening.

CONCERT—The second and last concert of the Pyne and Harrison English opera troupe takes place at Niblo's Saloon this evening. The selections for the occasion comprise a number of the most charming English songs and ballads, besides several gems from popular operas. The first concert was largely attended on Mönday evening, and as this is the last opportunity our citizens will have of hearing these celebrated vocalists for a long time, another immense gathering may be expected to-night.

Wood's Minstrels.—The successful new burlesque called "The Mischievous Monkey" continues the feature of attraction. George keeps the house in a state of uproarious merriment by his admirable personation of the cunning animal. Preceding the burlesque the customary variety of songs, dances, &c., will be given.

&c., will be given.

DUSSELDORF GALLERY.—It is pleasing to notice that the paintings, sculpture, &c., in this gallery are becoming more fully appreciated. Many visiters are to be found there at all times when open.

By an important act of Parliament, called the customs consolidation act of 1853, it is provided "that if the legislature of any of the British possessions abroad shall present an address to her Majesty, praying her Majesty to authorize the conveyance of goods or passengers from one port of such possession to another port thereof, in other than British ships, it shall be lawful for her Majesty, by order in souncell, so to authorize the conveyance of such goods and passengers on such terms and conditions as to her Majesty may seem good."

MAY 27.—True Bills.—The Grand Jury came into Court this morning, and rendered bills of indictment against Richard Stuart, for an endeavor to make a revoit on board the American ship Genoa; Etlen Cunningham and Mary Kelly, for passing counterfett half dollars; Themas Kea-neds, for stealing letters; Albert Lombard, for a like offence.

The Grand Jury have found bills in some other cases, which will not be reported until bench warrants are executed.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Tursday, May 27-P. M.
The arrival of the steamship Baltic at an early hour this morning, with favorable financial advices, gave quite an unward impetus to the stock market. A very large business was transacted, and in every stock sold bette prices were realized. At the first board, Missouri 6's advanced & per cent; Illinois Central bonds, &: Dela ware and Eudson, 2; Nicaragua Transit, 16; Pennsyi vania Coal, 114; New York Central Reilroad, 114; Erie 5; Hudson Ratiroad, 36; Chicago & Rock Island, % Reading, 34; Michigan Central, 36; Michigan Sonthern, 34; Panama, 34; Cieveland & Pittsburg, 34; Cieveland & Teledo, 34; Galora & Chicago, 36. The favorable bank statement for the past week undoubtedly had a good effect on prices, and was partially the cause of the active business and rapid rise to day. Erie and Reading were the most active atoers on the market this morning. Nearly four thousand shares of the former, and forty five hundred shares of the latter were sold at the morning board. All other stocks were in demand, particularly those of Western railroad companies, and closed firm.
Erie will, without doubt, feel the effect of good news from every quarter, and an improvement in the money market, as soon, if not sconer, and to a greater extent, than any other stock on the market. It has, in view of its increasing merits, a wider margin for a rise. The morthly receipts are so far beyond the wildest cal-culations, that the result of the year's business cannot fall afforcing some remuneration to stockholders. The gross earnings of the Eric road this year will be greater tral's earnings last year that company paid a divident of eight per cent on twenty-five millions of stock, after paying seven per cent interest on fif sen militims of debt, &c., &c. Now, there can be very little doubt but that the Erie Company, on the same earnings this year, can pay seven per cent on twenty-five millions of debt, and eight per cent on ten millions of stock, just as easy as the Central made its payments with the same means last year. The Erie is no lorger a non-dividend earning road. Dividends will be resumed in October, and go on regularly beneafter. In about thirty days half a dozen of our leading railroad companies pay their semi-annual dividends; some of them four but most of them fiv- per cent. This, deducted from the present market value, reduces the cost to points at which capitalists cannot hesitate to holi After the adjournment of the board the following sales of bonds and stocks were made at auction by Simeon

There was less disposition on the part of the hears to sell, and stocks were comparatively scarce. A very buoyant feeling prevailed in the street, and the effect of fayorable intelligence on the market shows that it has within itself a strong sustaining power. Its elasticity is illustrated in the rapid recovery from any depressing influence. We have not lost confidence in the future, or had our faith in the rapid improvement of every local interest of the country affected in the least by the reports relative to the Crampton enlistment affair, and still believe that we have immediately before us a period of prosperity unparalleled in our history. Within the past eight years upwards of five hun dred millions of gold has been added to the currency of the world, and the addition of such an enormous amount to the basis of credit and the representative of property, must ultimately be felt in the channels of commerce. F.ve hundred million of dollars in gold is a basis for ten thousand million of credit. An expansion to that ex-tent could safely be made on such a basis, and such as expansion of credit, when in active operation, must rapicly develope all the great interests of the world at War has for the past three years deranged the natural operations of financial and commercia affairs. Gold has, during that time, been diverted from its legitimate channels, and the effect of its creation been almost entirely lost. Peace will bring all this back again into order and active use. I may take some little time to get the machinery again in order, but when once egain in motion, we shall soo after feel the effect. The productions of gold is now going or at the rate of one hundred million per annum. This immenre amount is so much actually created—so much yearly added to the supply already in existence. We can harfly realize this fact, or imagine the effect of such an addition to the representative of property among all na-tions. The next fifty years, at this rate of supply, must bring about great changes in the value of gold and of property of all descriptions. As soon as the circulation of gold gets back into its natural channels again, we shall begin to see the extent of the supply. We shall then realize the extent review of the stock market for the past week:—

In State stocks the principal business has been in Missouri 6's and Viginia 6's, at a fractional rise. California 7's, more offered, have been and I per cent lower.

City and county bonds have somewhat recovered from their previous entile inaction. There have been saise of Son Francisco 16's at a small advance, and also a retail demand for Der Robines and Henry counties (16 wa), and for some of the Kentucky county bonds.

Railroad bunds continue very quiet. At private sais there have been a few transactions in Milwaukie and stasissippl let mortgage 3d section, at easier rates. At the Stock Exchange the only saise of importance have been of Hilmois Central Construction, at 1's per cent advance; and of Hilmois Freshand bonds at 3's per cent advance; and cities and the section of the section of the section of the section of the sections.

It relieves a tocks the rise is general and unimportant. Erie, Cleveland and Tolede, Reading and New York Central have been the most active ones. There has been some in wement in Panama, which has in a great measure recovered from its heavy fall.

some netween in range, which we want to some recovered from its heavy fall.

Money is easily obtained at 7 per cent, for loans on call. Paper without any material change, from 8 to 10 per cent.

Exchanges on Europe close weaker than by the last packet, especialty on Lendon, principal sales being at 100% a 100%; Paris, 5.16% a 5.17%.

The steamship Baltic, at this port from Liverpool brings four days' later news. The advices are of a very favorable character. Politically, there is nothing impor-tant. Financially and commercially, it is encouraging and satisfactory. Quotations for consols show an advance of % a % per cent; the closing price by the previous steamer was, 92% per cent; by the Baltic, 93% a 93% per cent. Money was more abundant, without change in rates. We have no returns from the Bank of England by this arrival, but we should judge, from the large arrivals of gold in Londonifrom Australia, that the next weekly report would show a handsome increase in builion. The new loan was progressing favorably. The official announcement that the government would want only two midious more, and that not until the beginning of next year, gave an upward impetus to the London stock market, and consols immediately advanced. The movements of specie in London during the week ending May 10 were as follows:-

May 10 were as follows:—

The cotton market was without change. With good supplies, prices, were maintained. The cales had been only to a moderate extent. Breadstuffs were not so ac-live us before reported, and prices had given way a frac-ton. The favorable weather in England; probably had tion. The favorable weather in Englands probably had comething to do with the heaviness in the market. The Mart Lare Express of the 12th, gives the following remarks on the cora trade:

The excessively cold weather, with frosty nights, by which the past week, up to Saturday, was characterised, has thrown a yellow cart over the growing wheat in many parts of the country, especially on the poor ands, where it was weak; but still we are much in advance of last season as to general appearance, and the rains, shough cold, have paspared the spring corn for rapid growth, with the present improved temperature. Never beleas, the departure of the signs of a very carly season may occasion a greater draught on the present stocks than they can well bear, the probase necessities of France in such case, like a cloud in the distance, looks somewhat forebodding; but as one fits growing week would greatly change the face of things, is us hope for the test. Potatoes hold out both in quantity and quality, and it is well that growers did not yield to discouragement under repeated failures, for their abundance this season has greatly helped to make up the deficiency in wheat. The grass lands, on the whole, leok rather promising. The more the subject of Bussian supplies is considered, the clear it appears that they are not to be expected in quantity on this side of harvest. American has lately given way somewhat in price, especially for common and inferior grades of flour, of which it is said nearly haif the entire supplies consist, and which, being made from roughly grown and negligerily harveste wheat, requires mixing with a better article to be fit to domestic use. The obstricts westerly whence it is usual for good qualities to come, having their wope ramaged by rain, das samples have been nearly limited to the South and are neither sufficiently abundant nor chees seenough to ship in quantity. Belgium and Holland both quote higher prices for wheat, and France sustains the late advance.
